

FINANCIAL NEWS

The ice men cometh

Vivek Ahuja

28 Feb 2011

Former Bankers Trust managing director Alex Jurshevski, now better known as the founder of risk management advisory boutique Recovery Partners, is about to take a risk of a different kind.

He is preparing to take part in the Scotiabank Pro-Am Hockey Tournament, which takes place in May in support of The Gordie & Colleen Howe Fund for Alzheimer's Research.

The event is being staged for the sixth year, and last year raised more than $2.5m. Jurshevski said: "These days it is hard to find someone whose life has not been affected in some way by Alzheimer's disease."

To sponsor Jurshevski, visit <http://bit.ly/fV0VAB>